The word 'Ming' comes from the greatest times of ancient China and although named one of the biggest oriental Empires, it was not a family name but an appellation, meaning 'bright', 'shining'. Studio Job decided to revive this heritage into Ming, a luminous vase-shaped design object that can function as a stool or a table. Wireless, with a rechargeable battery, led light, and 16 different interchangeable RGB colors, it can be regulated from a distance by remote control. Enhance your home with a royal-palace feeling!
